

The Organization of Teachers of Oral Diagnosis (OTOD) will hold its annual informal gathering during this coming ADEA Annual session in Long Beach, CA. Anyone interested in oral medicine, oral pathology and/or oral diagnosis teaching is welcome. Come join us for fellowship and exchange of experiences/ideas! Please see below for details.

This time we decided to do something a little bit different. As one of OTOD's main goal is the development, improvement, and distribution of CPC/ virtual cases to dental faculty members who are involved in the teaching of diagnostic skills relative to oral & maxillofacial lesions, if you have good clinical examples of oral lesions or disorders, that you wouldn't mind sharing, please send it to me in a PowerPoint format (1-5 slides) before March 15th. You will be able to present your case briefly to our OTOD colleagues (approx. 5min). The case can be an interesting/unusual case or a good example of a common lesion or disease. This will be a good way for OTOD members to learn from each other's clinical experience and for all of us to increase our collection of clinical cases for teaching purposes! However, you do not need to share a case in order to attend the event.
